

School–Family letter template

School and family are one team with a shared goal: that your child learns and feels at ease. Clear, kind communication opens doors.

- Start by acknowledging what already works; it's easier to build from there.
- Share what helps at home: concrete tips save everyone time.
- Ask for and give observable examples, not labels.
- Agree on a channel and contact frequency that are sustainable.
- Close each agreement with who does what and by when.

Your voice matters. No one knows your child like you. Your view is valuable information for the teaching team.

Copy this template and adapt it. Start by acknowledging what already works.

To: _____ Date: _____

Student: _____

1) What already works well:

2) What is hard (concrete examples):

3) Supports that help and could help in class:

With appreciation, _____